

invade, there is no problem here. Right? Clearly, they do not trust the Chinese, or else they would let this amendment pass.

Again, instead of saluting the democracy in Taiwan, we are rewarding the unsafe behavior of the Chinese. So I urge all of my colleagues to sign on to a letter to the Committee on Rules to make this amendment in order that if China invades Taiwan, we lift PNTR.

Our relationship with every country should make the world safer, the trade fairer and people freer. Permanent NTR at this time does not do that. I thank the gentleman from Michigan (Mr. BONIOR) for his leadership.

Mr. BONIOR. Mr. Speaker, I thank my colleague for raising that very important security issue and freedom issue and as my friend, the gentlewoman from Ohio (Ms. KAPTUR), did, I want to thank the veterans of this country for coming out in opposition based on basic security grounds and human rights grounds and encourage them to continue to call their Members of Congress as we enter this vote at the end of the week, the American Legion and the VFW and the AMVETS and the many organizations that we talked about. I thank my colleagues for joining me today.

RECOGNIZING THE FIELD MUSEUM OF CHICAGO'S PUBLIC UNVEILING OF SUE

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. GARY MILLER of California). Under a previous order of the House, the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. DAVIS) is recognized for 5 minutes.

Mr. DAVIS of Illinois. Mr. Speaker, I had the opportunity to observe and listen to a profound discussion lead by the distinguished minority whip and I happen to agree with the views expressed by all of those speakers, and I want to commend them for the leadership that they have displayed on this issue and I too would hope that next week, when we cast a vote, that we would not be rewarding China; we would not be rewarding those who do not provide equal rights and equal treatment to us all.

So I too shall be voting no on the establishment of permanent normal trade relationships with China.

Mr. Speaker, I am pleased to come to the floor at this time to recognize the Field Museum of Chicago as it celebrates the much awaited public unveiling of Sue, its world-famous 67-million-year-old Tyrannosaurus Rex.

In case any of us are not familiar with this colossal fossil, Sue is the largest and most complete Tyrannosaurus Rex ever found and was named after the fossil hunter who found the remains in South Dakota's Black Hills in 1990.

After 2½ years of cleaning, restoring and preserving her more than 250 fossilized bones, Sue is now ready to meet the public.

When fully erected in Stanley Field Hall, Sue stands 13 feet high at the hips and 42 feet long from head to tail. Her five foot long skull is so heavy that the museum will install a replica on the skeleton and place the real skull on display for visitors. As a result, visitors will be able to get an up-close view of the predator's massive head. They can also view animated CT scans of the skull and touch a variety of casts of Sue's bones, including a rib, forelimb and tooth.

The Field Museum plans to use Sue's massive appeal to bring the wonders of science to school children and other audiences throughout Illinois and the Nation. Sue will be installed in the new Hall of Paleontology and Earth Sciences Research with related exhibitry, research and educational programming, including a fossil prep lab where visitors can observe museum staff at work on real bones.

The new hall will not only illustrate the history of Sue and other dinosaurs but will also serve as a springboard to interest visitors in related questions such as mass extinction events, plant and animal evolution, plate tectonics, biodiversity through time and women in science. The museum plans to develop related curriculum and teacher training and offer 2 electronic field trips in which students can see and talk to scientists in the field as they are conducting excavation and research.

To celebrate Sue's unveiling, the Field Museum will be hosting a number of special dinosaur-related programs from May 17 through May 21, including a day of family entertainment, a family festival, a lecture by the lead researcher and a concert performance featuring the Chicago Chamber musicians about the life and times of Sue.

Mr. Speaker, while gleaning scientific data from Sue is a key aim, Sue is also an extraordinary tool for teaching visitors about paleontology, the geologic forces that shape our planet, vertebrate fossils and other scientific work. Sue has only just started to reveal her educational potential and will no doubt continue to yield new information about dinosaurs and the world in which they lived for many years to come. Please join me in recognizing the Field Museum as they share Sue with the world.

I also invite my colleagues, their staff and families, as well as other Americans, to join in the fun at the June 6 opening reception for a sneak peak at the national tour of a T. Rex named Sue at Union Station in Chicago.

Mr. Speaker, while we have seen seven wonders of the world, eight wonders, this is truly another wonder of the world and we invite the world to come and see it.
